

GP-Tech Limited Edition THE DONKEY

Available starting from the end of January 2010, the helmet worn by Valentino Rossi during the GP in San Marino where from "the doctor" he has become "the donkey": the new THE DONKEY graphics will be produced in a limited number of pieces distributed all over the world.

The helmet chosen for this limited edition will be the GP-TECH, top range AGV product, that has been designed, projected and developed with Valentino's support.

Taking the best from the previous race helmets (Ti-Tech, GP-Pro) and from the AGV racetrack experience, GP-Tech matches lightness, ventilation and comfort with an extremely innovative and aerodynamic design. This entirely made-in-Italy helmet is the product of an hi-tech, eco-friendly plant - thanks also to the use of water paint.

Why THE DONKEY?

After the USA Gp, Valentino decided to wear a helmet on which the picture of a donkey was predominant.

"The Doctor" has become "the Donkey" putting a donkey on the helmet even to celebrate with self-mockery the fall in Indianapolis, while thanks to the GP won in San Marino, Valentino has showed to his fans that donkeys can fly!
